

Potential PANTA Member,

I am writing to you today not as a great theologian that has reached some higher level of spiritual enlightenment. I am just a guy who has realized that as a Christian I have completely dropped the ball so many times that I have lost count. I feel like God has brought me back to a place of faith, hope and love. It is my heart's desire to help others see for themselves how wonderful our loving father really is and to show them from experience how to avoid my own epic failure.

God has used my wife, my family, my friends and my business partnerships to speak clearly and directly into my life in a way that I cannot completely explain. It is a bitter sweet experience because some people God has used are deducted to sincere accomplishment and are actively helping to meet physical needs of hurting people yet really have nothing to do with Him. I find myself overwhelmed by gratitude and love with renewed faith and determination.

Today I stand as just a regular guy on a supernatural mission to throw a spiritual lifeline to the people I see drowning around me. To truly walk that path that God has set before me so that He can show Himself to people in desperate need. I am asking you to join me as a spiritual lifeguard, setting your heart and your hands to this faithful task.

I cannot promise you that this mission will be easy or profitable. I cannot tell you that everyone we set out to rescue will survive. I cannot even tell you that everyone will want to be saved. Some will thrash about, tossed here and there by wave after wave; tragically some will try to pull us down with them. I believe with all my heart that if you start with the tiniest bit of faith God will do miraculous things.

To begin, I suspect that we have to start at the beginning. No one becomes a lifeguard without training; here is the offer with the invitation. Join us and spend one night a week for eight weeks looking at the spiritual basics. Start with the first small group study, grow and understand your spiritual foundation through the examples that the savior gave us. Study the word and understand what Christ's last words called us to do. Then decide if you are ready or want to do all things that some might be saved.

God is God and if we sincerely seek His face, he will find us and direct us.
I am not claiming to have all the answers but I know where to find them.

Thank you for taking a moment to hear my heart.
The next move is yours...I hope you will consider joining the PANTA Family.

In His spectacular grip,

Thomas P Lavin IV
